BEST BUYS FOR THE WEEK

In Torrance Markets

HOMEMAKERS' DEADLINE. Last chance to get that 1959 food budget in balance. Use abundant foods.

In the meat department there is a seasonal abundance: PORK; LAMB; CHICKENS (fryers, broilers); BEEF; all products in competitive prices. Many markets expect to feature canned hams . . . prices reflect the low cost prevailing at time of processing.

Are you hoping for a gift of meat for Christmas? Or, are you planning to give such gifts? Here are some suggestions to keep these gifts at peak flavor.

For canned hams -- mind what the label says. Perishable canned hams (three pounds or over) should be stored at refrigerator temperatures (30-40° F.) in the unopened can until used. Do not freeze. For the smaller canned hams (less than three pounds) be sure to read the label and heed the advice given.

Frozen meat should be stored in a freezer or freezer section of refrigerator. Temperatures must be zero °F or lower.

Fresh meat may be safely stored in the refrigerator for several days. Remove the market paper and cover meat loosely to allow some circulation of air. Prepackaged self-serve meats may be kept in refrigerator in original wrapper—but must be used within a day or two. Or, if you want to freeze prepackaged meats they may be kept in original store package for a short period. Re-wrap for long storage.

Remember, if you give a gift of meat or poultry, be sure to indicate on the package that the contents are perishable! One recipient of a beautifully wrapped package placed it under the Christmas tree to open on the important day. Strange odors finally came forth to indicate that a turkey had ceased to be of value! Don't let this happen to your gifts. EGGS. To stretch that budget, use eggs.

On the Produce Stands: Apples, Avocados, Grapefruit, Navel Oranges, Winter

Pears . . . Anjou and Comice, Tangerines, Carrots, Cauliflower, Celery, Lettuce, Yams, Brussels Sprouts and Mushrooms are getting plentiful.

Do your Christmas tree shopping early.

Buy your trees early . . . fresh trees by keeping it in while still fresh. Don't let your water. A 5-to 6-foot tree may dry out from long standing take up a quart of water the in sun and air on the sales lot. first day and use a full cup Foresters also say: fireproof of water every 24 hours.

WHAT SHOULD YOU DO BEFORE YOU ESCROW?

Before you put your cash, documents and other important papers into the hands of an Escrow Agent for safekeeping, you and the party with whom you're dealing must agree on such matters as:

- THE AMOUNT OF THE DOWN PAYMENT
- THE TYPE OF TITLE INSURANCE TO BE OBTAINED
- THE PERIOD OF ESCROW
